

The Daily Courant.

Wednesday, December 21. 1720.

Lisbon, November 19.

THE King has been indisposed some Days ago, but at present his Majesty enjoys a perfect Health. A Notification was Yesterday fixed at the Custom-house Door, to inform the Publick, that his Majesty had been pleased to suppress all his Customs upon Sugar, whether exported or imported, till the Arrival of the next Fleet from the Bahia; but as to white Sugar consumed in the Kingdom, a new Duty of 200 Reas is laid on each Pound of that sort, as also of 150 Reas on each Pound of Mascadoo Sugar; which causes some Discontents among the People, because every Pound of white Sugar will henceforward cost about a Dutch Florin, and the Mascadoo Sugar will cost 14 Sols; insomuch that the Confectioners, and a great many Convents, will be great Sufferers. Yesterday Morning two rich Jewish Merchants embarked privately with their Families, and the best of their Effects, on board a Man of War in the River Tagus, and sailed for England, to avoid falling into the Hands of the Tribunal of the Inquisition.

Malaga, Dec. 2. On the 15th past arrived here the three Maltese Men of War which had been employed to convoy Imbarcations to Ceuta: They sailed again Eastward the 22d, bound for Alicant, from whence they are to bring several Ships and Vessels with Troops to these Parts. On the 16th arrived the Regiment of Galicia, consisting of two Battalions, which marched hither by Land from Alicant. Here is also the Regiment of Almanza. They wait for Orders from the Marquess de Lede. An Order is come hither from Cadiz, for making Biscuit of all the Flour which was laid up in the Magazines here. On the 23d arrived about 50 Sateas, Tartans, and Barca-Longas, from the Bay of Gibraltar, under Convoy of an armed Satea of 10 Guns: These are taking in Biscuit and Straw for Ceuta; from whence other empty Transports arrive daily, to take in the like Lading. Within these few Days Sig. Patinno has sent over from Cadiz to Ceuta, 20 Pieces of new Bras battering Cannon, as also a great Number of Spades, Shovels, Pick-axes, and Scaling-Ladders, with other Stores of Ammunition.

Madrid, Dec. 9. By Advices from Ceuta of the 2d Instant we learn, that nothing of any Consequence has lately passed between the two Armies. The Marquess de Lede remains still in the same Camp, which he has caused to be strongly fortified; and the greatest part of his Army is employed in destroying the Works the Enemy had made before Ceuta. The Army of the Moors continued encamped within a short League of the Spaniards, and had begun to receive great Reinforcements both of Horse and Foot. It is believed the Marquess de Lede will only secure the Advantages he has obtained, till he be supplied with all the necessary Stores and Reinforcements designed him, and not attempt any thing further till the next Spring.

Copenhagen, Dec. 14. On the 8th Instant, the Lord Glenorchy, Envoy of Great Britain, had his first publick Audience of the King, with the usual Ceremonies. It is yet uncertain when the Lord Polwarth will leave this Court to return to Great Britain; to which Court, Baron Sohlendahl is setting out with all possible Expedition, to reside there in Quality of Envoy from his Swedish Majesty. The King has made Admiral Skindel a Vice Admiral, in the room of Admiral Tordenfchiold, deceased; and Commodore Croope is made Rear-Admiral, in the room of the former. Prince Dolhorucky set out this Day on his Return to Petersburg, but he has left his Secretary here to transact Affairs till further Orders from the Czar.

Brussels, Dec. 21. The States of Barbant being come to a Resolution to allow the Empe-our a Subsidy of two twentieths in the Cities, and three in the open Countries, for the Year 1720. an Assembly has been held thereupon for several Days, at which were summoned the Magistrates of this City in order to have their Consent, but they did not grant it, fearing such kind of Subsidies may be made too frequently, they not being used to Pay Tenths in time of Peace; however, there seems great probability that their Reasons will not be much heeded, and that they will be obliged at last to comply with the above Demands without any Restriction.

Baron Spar, the Ambassador from Sweden, passed lately through this City on his Way to Calais, to embark there for Great Britain: He was entertained at Dinner the Day before his Departure by his Excellency the Marquess de Prié, as was likewise Baron Ilten, who set out the 14th Instant for Paris. Count Ogilvy, formerly chief commanding Officer of the Regiment of Bonneval, set out the same Day, with all his Family, for Bohemia, from whence he goes afterwards to take Possession of the Regiment of Wetzel in Italy, which Command has lately been conferred upon him by the Emperour; and Count de la Tour is to succeed him in his Post in the Regiment of Bonneval.

The Court Martial at Charleroy is not yet over; the General, Count Wrangel, did not go thither to sit as President; and the Proceedings of the Court are to be transmitted to Prince Eugene of Savoy for his definitive Decision. Lieutenant Colonel Gibson having received a Commission from Prince Eugene for the Town Major's Post of Charleroy, he has accordingly taken the proper Oaths of his Excellency the Marquess de Prié. The Marquess del Campo, Governour of Offend, arrived in this City some Days ago.

It is currently reported that Mr. Law and some of his Family are just now arrived here from Paris.

Paris, Dec. 25. Mr. Law has retired out of this Kingdom into the Austrian Netherlands: He and his Son were conveyed to the Frontiers, by the Regent's Permission, in a Chaise of the Duke of Bourbon's, accompanied by one of the Duke's Gentlemen, and two others of his Domesticks. They took their Way by Valenciennes to Mons, whence Mr. Law and his Son proceeded to Brussels, where they arrived on the 21st Instant. It is said Mr. Law designs to repair to Rome with all Diligence: His Wife and Daughter are still here, but are selling off his Household-Goods and Effects, in order to follow him as soon as possible. On the 21st at Night, M. Bourgeois Treasurer, M. du Reveft Comptroller, and M. Fromager, one of the Directors of the Bank, were seized and sent to the Bastille: Several others of the Bank have also been taken into Custody by Virtue of Lettres de Cachet.
